Swan Club Act Depicts U.S. History

The annual Swan Club show, titled this year "The Flag Unfurls," was presented last night in the Natatorium, and will be performed at 8:15 p.m. tonight and tomorrow night.

The show is based on American history up to the Civil War and each routine performed by the synchronized swimmers depicts a scene from early America.

Acts performed by the groups include "Pilgrims," "Paul Revere," "Minutemen," "Spirit of '76," "Steamboat," "Redcoats," "Covered Wagon," "Pony Express," and "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Also featured in the show is a twelve-girl chain dolphin.

Miss Iris E. Andrews, associate professor of women's physical education, and Miss Dorothy M. Luedtke, assistant professor of physical education, are directors of the swim show. This is the twentieth show Miss Andrews has directed the performance.

Tickets may be purchased in the Union today. Student tickets are 75 cents and $1 for general admission for tonight's show and $1 for all tickets for tomorrow night's performance.

The forecast for today is sunny and cool with a high in the 50s. Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer with a chance of rain.

Phi Kappa Phi Will Initiate 98

Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary society for students with high scholastic records, will initiate three professors, five graduate students, 47 alumni, and 43 undergraduate students Sunday in the Ohio Suite.

Professors to be initiated into the society are Dr. Theodore J.

Jenson, dean of the College of Education; Dr. Harvey E. Donley, professor of accounting, and Dr. Richard C. Carpenter, professor of English.

Undergraduates eligible for membership in Phi Kappa Phi are seniors with minimum accumulative point averages of 3.5 and ranked in the top 12 1/2 per cent of their class, and second semester juniors with at least a 3.75 accumulative point average and ranking in the top five per cent of their class.

Alumni are chosen on the basis of their scholastic record as students here and on their achievements since graduation.

Three alumni from each class can be chosen for membership each year.

Undergraduate members of Phi Kappa Phi are eligible for the society's annual graduate fellowship, which aids the recipient in financing his first year of graduate study.

Phi Kappa Phi recognizes scholarship in all academic areas. Book and Motor, a local honorary society founded in 1914, became Phi Kappa Phi last June.

Asian Expert Here Today

"Chinese Foreign Policy: Conflict and Opportunity" will be Dr. John H. Badgley's topic at a Curbside meeting today in the Alumni Room at 4 p.m.

Dr. Badgley, a specialist on Southeast Asia, is an assistant professor of government at Miami University and has traveled and studied extensively in the Orient.

Since he was graduated from Montana State University in 1952, he has visited Japan threetimes, Burma twice and Thailand once.

After serving in the Army in Japan from 1952-55, he earned his master's degree from Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in 1957.

A Fulbright grant and an assignment from the Rand Corp. took him to Burma during 1957-58, after which he taught a course in comparative government at the University of California at Berkeley.

He spent part of 1960-61 in Cornell University's Southeast Asia program, and received a Ph.D. degree from the University of California in 1961.

Dr. Badgley returned to Burma in 1961 on a Ford Foundation Foreign Area Training Fellowship.

His research on Burma produced articles in three magazines on Asian affairs, chapters in two book about China's foreign relations and Asian communist, and his forthcoming book, "Burma's Revolution."

Dr. Badgley joined the Miami University faculty in 1962.

During the 1964-65, Dr. Badgley spent about 12 months on loan to Kyoto University in Japan to help staff its Research Center on Southeast Asia, during which time he spent two months researching local politics in Thailand.

Dr. Badgley is a member of the American Political Science Association, the Asian Association, the Burma Research Society, and the Siam Society.

Viet Nam 'Bleed-In' Scheduled Next Week

"Viet Nam Bleed - In" is the theme of the blood drive to be held here next Wednesday and Thursday by the American Red Cross.

Craig M. Morton, campus coordinator of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, said yesterday the Department of Defense has designated this campus as one of the 56 collection centers for blood in the nation.

Morton said that the blood donated will go directly to Viet Nam. The Department of Defense has set the national quota at 500,000 pints and so far, 60,000 pints have been donated.

The minimum quota for Bowling Green is 350 pints, Morton said.

Communist Casualties Heavy

SAIGON (AP)-- Allied troops yesterday inflicted heavy casualties after apparently trapping a Communist force in South Viet Nam near the northern city of Quang Ngai.

Helicopters dropped U.S. Marines and government troops into the area, acting on information from a defector.

Allied losses were termed light, but enemy losses were placed at more than 170 and possibly as high as 300.

The fighting marked an end to several days of inactivity in the ground war.

Charity Drive

It was announced last week that a total of $4,949.70 was collected in the annual charities drive. A total of $1,200 was designated for specific charities, with the remainder being divided among the five charities.

The Student Body can be proud of the part it played in the collection of this amount.

We congratulate the endeavors of the Student Charities Board, under the chairmanship of Roberta Gibson, for its success in this year's drive.

Founders--For Offices?

To the editor:

Unfortunately Founders has survived since 1957 and looks forward to another 50 years of apathy. 'Tis a pity it's a dorm. Keep the "Hole With Soul" and make the Big Playpen an office building.

To imply that Founders wallows in insensibility seems rather harsh, but then how many people need a pep rally just to get them to dinner? Surely this denotes a definite lack of enthusiasm.

One of the monumental accomplishments of the "Big Crib" to date, was the installation of an iced tea dispenser in what is jokingly known as the cafeteria. Perhaps the cafeteria is the impetus behind the pep rally. You've got to be a masochist to actually hurry to dinner.

Far be it from us to criticize the culinary experts on the staff here, but we do have a few sayings that are in keeping with the tradition. Among these are: "If the rice moves don't eat it" and "All that wiggles is not jello."

We here at the "playpen" have fun weeks as does Shatzel. We have "Don't Cut In Line Week," "No Hot Water Week," and "Barry Goldwater's Birthday Week" - which is the only week when we never have "leftovers!"

The greatest show of spirit that Founders has ever witnessed came just before spring break when the cleaning women locked the lounge. True to the spirit of their forefathers, the girls took advantage of the weekly corridor meeting and made off with the ironing board.

The rebellion was short lived for the R.A. was attracted by the chants of "We Shall Overcome" and "With God on our Side," thus apprehending the culprit.

There will be those among us who feel that Founders is Peachy-keen and after all what about those liberal hours? What about them? A somewhat long umbilical cord assures the good women of Founders that you won't stray too far.

For once you leave the mammoth security blanket, the all-knowing AWS is there to make sure you keep the standards of campus women. Big Sister is watching you.

During the recent "Spring 300" the males screamed to the girls of Founders - "Why don't you go to Ohio State and learn something?" Then what?

The fault does not lie completely with Founders. This entire campus shows as much spirit as an old folks home in East Orange, New Jersey, but then when some initiative is shown the participants are branded as criminals or weirds. Really now!

At any rate, after considerable thought we think Founders would make a great office building.

So let Shatzel stand and we'll all move into Williams.

Deferments

To the editor:

Politically I consider myself somewhat of a Hamiltonian and I suspect that replies to this letter, if any, will indicate that many are socially.

There are many things, the Selective Service being one, patriotism another, which should have no bounds determined by family position, wealth, education, or influence in a democracy, such as we call ourselves.

In my opinion the whole system of deferments should be abandoned and each man be equally liable for military service, for as the instruments of war are impartial of their victims so also the Selective Service. Presently one's socio-economic situation largely determines whether he is to be deferred (and preserved).

But what of those unable to attend college? These human beings are entitled to just and equal treatment, and what boils down to money should be a covert factor in determining those eligible for military service.

What is needed is an impartial draft in which all men of military age and competency are liable. Much hypocrisy exists in this Viet Nam situation and I suspect that if all were apt to be drafted, with no possibility for exemption there would be more opposition to this war of questionable purpose.

The forth-coming Selective Service Test is a possible method of democratizing the draft, but military-liability cannot be fairly rated on intellectual ability. The mechanic we depend upon may not be able to pass the test but performs a vital community service.

Thus far military service has been based on socio-economic percepts and indeed, during the Civil War a man could hire a substitute as did one of our presidents, but "All men are created equal" and all that, if you recall.

One cannot hold an adverse opinion without getting into an elitist mire from which one turn of the wheel of fate could propel him into the clutches of a draft board because he lacked the means to continue buying his deferment.

Which Way Will German Eagle Soar?

By ROGER HOLLIDAY
Columnist

On a May day in 1962, a column of some 20 cars left the outskirts of the city and moved out into the hills beyond. The city was Stuttgart in Southern Germany. The occasion, a meeting of "Stahlhelm," a first world war veteran's organization.

Stuttgart is a beautiful city at this time of year as it nestles in a valley of a million blossoms and vines. It is prosperous too, for Stuttgart is one of the industrial centers of Germany. For centuries the craftsmen of Southern Germany have been known for their precision workmanship and as a result Mercedes Benz, Bosch and other companies have built plants in the area.

But this skill brought destruction in the latter part of the war and the bombers came in low over the vine covered hills and left behind a bloody scene of death and smoking ruins.

The war over, building began again and though progress was slow, by the mid-fifties there was little left to be seen of the ruins but a mountain of rubble that even then was turning green; a grassy monument to a city that died.

But now it was alive again, prosperous, and we were on our way to a meeting concerned with another era and another war. We left the city behind and after an hour's drive made a sharp turn off the main route into a wooded area.

We got out, followed a devious pathway through the forest and were suddenly out in the open with miles of countryside spread before us.

There was a move in the crowd and two men detached themselves. They approached a solitary boulder and with great ceremony placed a flag over it, unfurling another banner at the same time. The spectators encircled the stone, quietly and reverently.

There was emotion on the faces of the people around as the speaker began to reminisce. He spoke of the good times that had once been, of the comradeship and spirit of the era.

He recalled again the reason for their visiting this monument. It was the last meeting place of the group before the defeat, and this was the day set aside to remember that day.

The hymns that followed the speech were patriotic, calling on all to remember what once had been and saying that a mighty and glorious Germany would one day be once more "Uber Alles."

It made me wonder, this fervor for an empire long dead.

I hadn't noticed any nationalistic feeling amongst the youth of Germany, and during four years of living in the country I had little reason to believe that there was any deep rooted hatred of any ethnic or non-German groups.

Perhaps they were expending their energies in the building of the new Germany.

I worked too, with a number of old soldiers, prominent men in the Hitler regime, now curiously quiet. Some are back in power; others, like Hitler's chauffeur, work in lesser jobs.

Some seem to want to forget all that had been but even here one notices that despite their wish to forget, they still retain their cliques and reminisce.

I once went to the home of a former German Nazi colonel who with pride brought out a scrap book--there he was in company with the leaders of the Reich--Himmler Goebbels and Hitler himself.

Which way, I often wonder, will the German eagle soar.

The B-G News, Friday, April 22, 1966 Spring Brings Professor's Number Game

By MARILYN DRAPER
Columnist

Weather's nice, isn't it? Almost like spring. Spring--when a student's fancy turns to hondas, skateboards, sitting under a tree, or taking a slow, pensive walk to Harshman and beyond.

Spring--when books are more likely than ever to lie idle while their owners trip off to find a world with more reality in it; to discover the things that life is made of.

Sad that those books must lie idle. Sadder yet that the students are so inattentive in class when, a few short months from now, the professor will hand them sheets with a myriad of numbers on it--and the students will have to tell the professor just how he rates by circling the right ones.

Fantastic system. Foolproof, you say? Yes, it's quite an objective method of evaluating a professor's effectiveness.

It also bears a remarkable resemblance to those tests they give us--with IBM cards. Muddle through it, dear students. Figure out the system as best you can. Be sure you don't give him too high a mark.

And you too, professor. Muddle through that myriad of numbers that represent YOU. These are the students' brave attempts to evaluate your effectiveness in an objective manner.

It's their attempts to complain about the work you've been doing this semester without having to worry about the possibility that you will recognize the handwriting.

Or perhaps they'd like to pat you on the back--tell you how much they've enjoyed your class--in a way that can't be termed "apple-polishing."

It's really a wonderful world we live in. Man is so intelligent, so profound, that he is able to develop a system of numbers to evaluate professors--the leaders in our search for truth.

Yes, some will deposit those numbers in the circular file--but those who care, who really really care, will spend simply hours poring over these numbers--just to see what students think of them as teachers.

And, next year, he may just change something so that the next myriad of numbers will result in a more favorable score, or at least a different one.

How do you tell a professor--by means of numbers--that his class is not stimulating enough to compete with the weather? Why don't you just circle the numbers in the middle?

Then you can leave with a clear conscious and trip off to discover what life is really all about. Hondas, skateboards, sitting under a tree...

Greek Royalty Crowning Tonight

A King and Queen to reign over all Greek spring activities will be selected by an anonymous committee and announced at the Pi Kappa Alpha pie-eating contest tonight.

Finalists for Queen are: Mary Beth Alderman, Delta Gamma; Coleen Carr, Delta Zeta; Cindy Hebert, Gamma Phi Beta; Phyllis Lebo, Chi Omega, and April Mihely, Alpha Xi Delta.

Greek King finalists are: Larry Arnold, Sigma Nu; Glenn Finley, Alpha Sigma Phi; Russel Jacques, Phi Delta Theta; Dave Nelson, Beta Theta Pi, and Jim Oliver, Alpha Tau Omega.

Rather than have individual queens reign over spring events, the sororities and fraternities this year voted through Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council to select royalty for all spring activities.

Each house was permitted one candidate but members could not vote for their own representative.

Military Conductor To Perform Sunday

Lt. Col. William F. Santelmann, former director of the U.S. Marine Band, will be the guest conductor in a University Symphonic Band concert at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the Grand Ballroom.

As leader of the U.S. Marine Band from 1940 to 1955, Col. Santelmann was supervisor of all Marine bands throughout the world.

Col. Santelmann planned and provided the music for all official functions at the White House during the administration of five Presidents. In 1941, he was elected to membership in the American Bandmasters' Association and was president of the association in 1953.

Since his retirement, Col. Santelmann has travelled across the country conducting various festivals, clinics, high school and college bands. He wants to conduct the youth of America in hopes of inspiring them to develop their musical education as he did.

Col. Santelmann played under John Philip Sousa, and approximately, the first selection on the program in Sousa's "Hands Across the Sea," "Festive Overture" by Dimitri Shostakovich and "Enigma Variations" by Edward Elgar will also be featured.

Herb Lashner, senior, will play an oboe solo in "Variations for Oboe and Military Band" by Rimsky Korsakof.

Other selections for the concert include, "Beguine for Band" by Glenn Osser, "Variantes on a Medieval Tune" by Norman Della Joia, "Storm and Sunshine" by Heed, and "Finale to Symphony No. 4" by Peter Tchaikovsky.

LT. COL. SANTELMANN

Admission is free.

Pitt Glee Club Here Tonight

The University of Pittsburgh Men's Glee Club, directed by Philip S. Cavanaugh, will perform in a program with the Treble Clef Singers, University women's chorus, at 8:15 tonight in Recital Hall.

Emanuel Rubin, instructor in music, will direct the Treble Clef Singers.

The Pitt Glee Club will open the program with the "Alma Mater." Bach's "Blessing, Glory and Wisdom," Schubert's "La Pastorelle" and Grieg's "Brothers in Song" will be sung by the group, and the varsity Quartet will perform "In Taberna" by Orff.

The Treble Clef Singers will perform in the second part of the program and Barbara Carpenter, sophomore, will accompany on the piano.

The group will sing "The Kyrie" by Lotti, "Thus, Then, the Law" by Bach and "Three Songs" by Brahms.

Craig Sievert and Christina Lyons, sophomores, will accompany them on the french horn.

7 Honored By Pershing Rifles

The presentation of honorary membership in Company I-1 of the National Society of Pershing Rifles was made yesterday to three University faculty members and four coeds.

President William T. Jerome, Col. William V.N. Grace, professor of military science, and Staff Sgt. Bobby V. Lawson were presented honorary memberships by Cadet Capt. Daniel B. Claxton.

Four coeds in the College of Education also were selected for honorary memberships. Marjorie Parmentoe, a junior; Karen Isaksson, a sophomore; sophomore Gay Lynn Euler and junior Christina Smith were selected for the honor.

The coeds serve as sponsors for Company I-1.

Robert Kirk, Glee Club president, will direct the men in "Every Time," a spiritual, "The Halls of Ivy" by Russell and Knight, "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Steffe and "Hail to Pitt."

The choruses will combine to sing the "Te Deum" by Peeters and Karla Williams will accompany on the organ.

The program is free and open to the public.

Alumni Given Placement Aid

The University has completed plans for a placement service designed to provide better job opportunities for alumni.

Through the new service, an electronic data processing system operated by the College Placement Council will match alumni potentials to employer needs in the fields of education, business, industry, and government throughout the United States and Canada. James L. Galloway, director of the placement office, said yesterday.

Openings listed with the placement office include: directors of secondary curriculum, local superintendents, assistants to superintendents, elementary principals, guidance directors, account executives, home planning representatives, investigators, procedures specialists, and personnel managers.

Union Planning Gay 90's Night

"The Red Garter" is the theme for Gay Nineties Night at the Carnation Room tomorrow from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Entertainment will be provided by Dean Runkle at the piano and vocalists Ken Gilman and Rick Hansen.

There will be no admission charge. Dress will be sweaters and ties for men.

Dead Vietnam Hero Cited By President

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A young private who gave his life to save fellow paratroopers in Viet Nam now ranks among the nation's greatest heroes.

President Johnson presented the Medal of Honor yesterday to the father of Milton Lee Olive III at a White House ceremony. Olive, a Chicago Negro, threw himself on a Viet Cong grenade to protect four other paratroopers.

The President said that in dying Olive "taught those of us who remain how we ought to live."

Relatives and friends of the hero, as well as Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and Washington officials, assembled in the White House rose garden for the ceremony. Also on hand were two of the paratroopers whose lives Olive is credited with saving.

After the ceremony, Olive's father, Milton Olive Jr., said: "From now on there will be no tears of self-pity as a way of life, but rather we shall try to dedicate our lives to the spirit of a brave American soldier."

Labor Mediators Plan Discussion

Robert G. Howlett, and Robert Pisarski, two prominent Michigan labor mediators, will lead a discussion on collective bargaining and the roles of labor, management and the mediation services at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ohio Suite.

Mr. Howlett is chairman of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board and was assistant to the Michigan attorney general from 1957 to 1961.

Mr. Pisarski has been a government attorney in various aspects of labor relations since 1950 and has taught labor law at several colleges.

The discussion, sponsored by Phi Alpha Theta, national history honorary society, is open to the public.

Movies To Star Doris Day, Ford

"Lover Come Back" and "Advance to the Rear," both comedies, are scheduled in the campus movies series this weekend.

"Lover Come Back" stars Rock Hudson, Doris Day, Tony Randall, and Edie Adams and depicts the world of advertising centered around Madison Avenue in New York City.

"Advance to the Rear," a civil war comedy, stars Glenn Ford as the second in command of an unusual company of cavalry sent to an isolated fort to insure the safety of the Union Army. Music for the film is sung by the New Christy Minstrels.

"Lover Come Back" will be shown at 6 and 8 p.m. tonight and 8 p.m. tomorrow. "Advance to the Rear" will be shown at 8 tonight and 6 and 8 p.m. tomorrow.

War For Weaker Sex?

By LARRY KEELER
Staff Writer

As hundreds of thousands of America's young men are drafted into the army, people across the country are becoming more and more aware of the pressing need for soldiers.

The draft has affected most of the young men in the U.S. very much. It is constant worry to students and non-students alike.

A question has arisen from this constant demand for young men. Would a women's draft alleviate the situation to some extent? Would it be practical? Here are the opinions of several Bowling Green students.

Douglas Devore, sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts, said, "I don't think that women should be drafted. It wouldn't be practical. Women should be allowed to choose whether or not they want to go into the service."

Jennie Mae Ball, sophomore in the College of Education, said,

"Yes, it's a free country. Men and women are equal, and if women are to receive half of the good things in our country, they should receive half of the responsibility too."

"I think that the women should fight, too. As many women as men should be drafted, but it would be necessary to exempt housewives and mothers."

Patricia Morisey, junior in the College of Education, said, "Although it would be possible I don't think that women should be drafted. Someone has to stay home. I think that enough women would enlist in an emergency anyway."

James Logan, sophomore in the College of Business Administration, said, "First, it wouldn't be practical because a certain number of jobs have to be filled at home, and these would be more appropriate than any job in the army. Besides there aren't enough jobs in the army for women, and what jobs there are can be filled by non-combat qualified men.

"The organization of the army today is such that men's minds must be behind the strategy and planning. A complete organizational change would be necessary, and this would entail too much work and expense for the small results which are desired."

Patricia Lynn, junior in the College of Education, said "No, the few women which are needed could be recruited easily enough. I think that if the government tried hard enough to get women to enlist more than enough would respond. Those who joined willingly would do a better job than those who would be drafted."

Ronald Willis, senior in the College of Education, said, "Yes I think that there are thousands of jobs in the army which could easily be filled by women. This would allow many more men already in the army to go into combat branches, and not as many men would have to be drafted."

"Women could be given the same basic draft requirements as men without much difficulty. It definitely is practical."

Students Danced Minuet Under Shakespeare Tree

Walked past Moseley Hall lately? If you have, you probably never even paid any attention to that tree with the rock adjacent to it located in front of the building.

The plaque on the rock says "Shakespeare Memorial Tree, April 23, 1921, Toledo Chapter."

Tomorrow will be an anniversary will for this tree so a little digging was done to get to the roots of its history.

Students nowadays may pass it by without a glance but 45 years ago, some BG students were dancing a minuet in honor of this particular English elm.

The dance was part of ceremonies held by the Wauseon, Toledo, and Bowling Green Shakespeare Round Table Clubs to celebrate the playwright's anniversary.

According to a 1921 Wood County Sentinel-Tribune article, "The spirit of the Bard of Avon was present" as the local ladies and their guests toured the campus, lunched, and then "gave the English Elm its final resting place."

The tree was serenaded by 80 school children, dedicated, and addressed by the president of the Toledo Club and by University President H.B. Williams.

Then, "the girls of the college gym class, in quaint costumes and powdered hair, danced a minuet with grace in the pleasing performance" in front of what is now University Hall.

The Bowling Green Shakespeare Club still exists. Several University women, faculty members, and professor's wives are active in the town organization.

There won't be any dancing this year to celebrate Shakespeare's birthday, (his 452nd,) but if you pass the tree on Saturday you might say happy birthday anyway.

THE PLAQUE on this rock reads, "Shakespeare Memorial Tree, April 23, 1921, Toledo Chapter. The tree is an English Elm and was planted near Moseley in 1921 to commemorate the anniversary of Shakespeare's birth. Tomorrow will mark his 452nd.

Lottery Winners Splurge On Toys

WOOTTON, ENGLAND (AP)-- When an English man and his wife won $100,000 in a football lottery, they decided that at least a small share would go to fellow residents of their home town of Wootton-- population 650.

First, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Day invited every child between six months and eleven years to the village hall. Mrs. Day pulled back a curtain, revealing a mountain of toys on the stage.

After the distribution of the toys, the Day's played hosts at a chicken dinner for the elderly men and women of the village. After the dinner, there was a bingo party, with the Day's furnishing all the prizes.

Booklet Lists Summer Jobs

Scope, an annual publication listing student summer community service opportunities available all over the world, is now available in the Placement Office, the Dean of Students' office and the Library.

Scope lists more than 125 religious, civic, political and academic groups sponsoring projects in 49 states and many foreign countries. Many of these activities pay some or all expenses, but none of them are designed as money-making enterprises for students.

The United States National Student Association publishes Scope in cooperation with the Ford Foundation.

World News Roundup

WASHINGTON (AP)-- The government's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday that living costs climbed .4 per cent in March.

Although this is a smaller increase than in February, it is sufficient to cause continued official concern over price pressures.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- A House Appropriations Subcommittee yesterday voted to go along with President Johnson's recommendations for deep cuts in some public health and educational programs for the coming fiscal year.

One of the cuts is in the politically popular item of federal aid for school districts having large numbers of federal workers and military personnel.

Opponents of the cuts said they are confident they can restore most of the money when the full 50-member committee considers the bill next Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- House Minority Leader Gerald Ford (R-Mich.), again challenged the management of the Viet Nam War yesterday, but he said it would be a "mistake" to replace Secretary of Defence McNamara now.

Ford appeared at a news conference with Senator Everett Dirksen, (R-Ill.). Dirksen steered clear of leveling the mismanagement charge, saying he preferred to call it "misjudgment."

BG 9 To Face Ohio U. Falcons Tee Off In Pivotal 2-Game Set Against TU, Herd

By TOM HINE
Assistant Sports Editor

Whether or not Bowling Green will ever bother to show up for the rest of this season's scheduled games will be determined when the Falcons take on Ohio University in two games this weekend.

Game time today is 3:30 p.m. and tomorrow's game will begin at 2 p.m. Both will be played at Steller Field.

A loss in either game to the defending Mid-American Conference champions - or to any MAC squad for that matter - will be an almost certain death blow to BG's hopes for a league crown.

They have already dropped two games in conference play although, ironically enough, they are 8-0 outside the league. If nothing else, this would seem to indicate the relative strength of the MAC.

But back to the OU games.

The Bobcats have to be rated as one of the best clubs in the league. With 12 letterman returning from a team that took 28 victories in 31 games last year, coach Bob Wren is pretty well set for this season.

Actually, on any given day all Wren has to do is send senior pitcher Tom Murphy and anyone else who feels like playing to catch him and the Bobcats are almost assured of a win.

Last season, Murphy racked up a 10-0 record, second best in the nation, and had a 2.32 earned run average. He is backed up by southpaw Larry Robinson, who had a 0.78 ERA last year and a 4-0 late, and righthanded reliever Bob Dixon, who compiled a 3-0 mark.

A pair of returning all-MAC selections give Ohio plenty of offensive punch. Junior Berke Recheimbach, a shortstop who rapped enemy pitching to the tune of a .344 average last year, will combine with outfielder Bob Willet, a senior with a rather impressive .356 average.

Although Ohio will represent one of the season's toughest challenges, Falcon coach Dick Young is optimistic of BG's chances to upset the Bobcats.

"I think we can beat them," Young said following his squad's second loss to Western Michigan last week. He is also hopeful that OU can in turn knock off Western, thus improving Bowling Green's hopes for the title.

At any rate, the Falcons now can be rated only long shots at best. Another loss is almost certain to eliminate them since no team in the history of the Mid-American Conference has ever taken the baseball crown with three or more losses.

The worst season record ever for a championship team was fashioned in 1948 by Ohio University when the Bobcats took the league laurels with a 7-2 mark.

As recently as 1959, however, Western's Broncos walked away with the championship with a 14-2 slate.

The Bowling Green golfers will have a couple of chances today and tomorrow to get even with the Marshall University golf team which handed the Falcons a nine-stroke defeat at Ohio State earlier this season.

The Falcons will travel to Toledo today where the Rockets will play host to Marshall and BG in an 18-hole match-medal contest.

The Thundering Herd will then journey south tomorrow with the Falcons and Hillsdale College for the first intercollegiate match on the University course.

Tomorrow's affair will be a match-match-match-medal contest, with each golfer able to earn a possible four points for his team. In today's matches, the golfers will be competing for a maximum three points each.

The Falcons will be facing two of the toughest golfers in the Mid-American Conference in Bill Buss of Toledo, who won individual medalist honors in the MAC championships last year, and Marshall's Dick Shepherd, who walked off with the individual MAC championship.

Shepherd, 6-4 and 240 pounds, is highly respected by Bowling Green coach Forrest Creason. "This kid is really a great one. He won the MAC championship last year--and he was only a sophomore. I'm afraid the MAC will have to put up with him for two more years," Creason said.

And of Buss, Creason added, "This fellow is one of the longest hitters in the country. He can really belt that ball."

The Falcons didn't have too much trouble last season with the teams they will be facing this weekend. The Bowling Green linksmen combined for six wins with but a single loss to these three teams.

In the only match with Hillsdale, the Falcons won 23 1/2 - 4 1/2. Against Marshall, the Falcons earned 19-17 and 16 1/2 - 7 1/2 victories and were overpowered by the Big Green 16-2 in a third match.

Toledo gave the Falcons even less trouble. Bowling Green pounded out 17 1/2 - 6 1/2, 15-9, and 17 1/2 - 6 1/2 victories in three meetings.

In tomorrow's match, coach Creason will try something new. Against Marshall he will use his regular six-man squad of Ed Theis, Mike McCullough, Ron Whitehouse, Pat McGohan, Tom Bollinger, and Ron Apple, but against Hillsdale, John Latimer, and Terry Reed will play as number-five and six men, respectively. Both are sophomores.

Today's match will be played on the Toledo Country Club, beginning at 1 p.m., while Saturday's contest will start at 9 a.m.

Tracksters To Invade OSU

The Ohio Relays will be the scene of the next Bowling Green track action, as the Falcon track team travels to Ohio State University, tomorrow for the meet.

Leading the Orange and Brown into the O.S.U. competition will be the tri-captains Bob Clasen, Ralph Canady, and Tom Wright.

Clasen, a former National Collegiate Athletic Association Championship competitor, specializes in the 880-yard run, and the quarter mile.

Canady, who spent most of last year in the 440-yard run, is coming into his own in the half mile this season.

Leading the Falcon sprinters into the Ohio University meet will be Tom Wright. Wright, who took first in both the 100-yard dash, and the 220-yard dash against Cincinnati and Ball State last Tuesday, will be the top Falcon contender traveling this week.

Henry Williams, remains on the casualty list for the third straight week. Williams is expected to run against the University of Toledo next Wednesday.

The distance department will be bolstered by Bob Parks, Bill Kerns and Bob Knoll. Parks won the mile run, and was second in the half mile Tuesday. Kerns took the number one spot in the 2-mile run and Knoll had a second behind Parks in the mile.

Frosh Golfers Win 1st Match

The freshman golf team began its 1966 season on a successful note yesterday by downing the Bluffton College and the Cedarville College varsities in a triangular match in Bluffton.

The yearlings defeated Bluffton by a 19-5 count, and drubbed Cedarville 22 1/2-1 1/2. Five of the six-man Falcon squad turned in at least one shutout, with Rick Mathers, who captured medalist honors by shooting a 73, and John Gerber each shut-out both of their opponents.

Other fledgling posting white-washes were Terry Grose, downing his Cedarville opponent 4-0; Fergus McDermott, who posted a 75, blanked his Cedarville opposition 4-0; and Dave Traphagen, who also beat his Cedarville rival 4-0.

The sixth member of the team, Rodney Hill, carded an 80 in defeating his opponent from Cedarville 2 1/2-1 1/2.

The yearlings' scheduled match for Saturday morning has been canceled.

Netters Trip N. Illinois 5-4

By BOB BRUCKNER
Assistant Sports Editor

The extra practice on their doubles game payed off for the Falcon tennis team as they took two of the three doubles matches to edge Northern Illinois 5-4 here yesterday.

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 the netters will try to make it three wins in a row as they host Wayne State.

After splitting even in the singles matches on a windless, near perfect day for tennis, the Falcons made the day even more pleasant with an impressive doubles performance to extend their record to 5-2.

Ron Carroll, the Falcons' number one man, and Bob Lempert, the number two player, combined forces to beat Northern's top pair 6-3 and 6-4.

Roger Newman and Trevor Weiss, the Falcons' number three and four men, followed with an equally impressive showing by downing Northern's number two doubles team 7-5 and 6-2 to give the Falcons a 5-3 lead and assure the victory.

"It was a real good win for us," said Falcon tennis coach

Dr. Robert Keefe. "We beat a good team, and it should help in the rough conference games yet to come."

In singles, BG's top three players came through with wins, while the bottom three found themselves on the short side of the score. Carroll won his match in two extended sets, 7-5, 7-5 over Bob Luedeke.

"My opponent played a consistent, steady game," said Ron. "I just kept playing and finally outlasted him."

Lempert and Newman both went the distance in their matches. Lempert defeated Hans Rokus 3-6, 6-3, and 6-2 while Newman was edging his opponent 6-1, 3-6, and 6-3. "Both Bob and Roger made good comeback efforts," said Carroll.

Weiss lost two straight to John Daly in the battle of the number four men. "Daly has the best record on the Northern squad," said Coach Keefe.

But Weiss suddenly came to life in doubles. "I was playing poorly during the singles matches," said Trevor, "but I regained my form during the doubles."

Dean Snyder lost 6-3, 6-1 to Northern's Rich Edwards, and Bryant Evans, the Falcons' sixth man, dropped one of his patented close matches to Lee Alexander, 7-5, 1-6, and 7-5.

Carroll and Newman have the best singles records on the team, both 6-2. Lempert and Weiss follow with 5-3 marks, Snyder is 3-4 and Evans is 3-5.

In doubles, Carroll and Lempert have combined for a 5-2 record, Newman and Weiss are 4-2 and Snyder and Evans have a 1-6 mark.

Stickmen To Challenge Columbus Tomorrow

By DICK AQUILA
Sportswriter

The Bowling Green lacrosse team, 0-1 in varsity play, will host the Columbus Lacrosse Club at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the old stadium.

Although the Falcons downed Columbus last year, coach Mickey Cochrane still has some worries about tomorrow's game.

"An amateur team like Columbus could really be tough. It all depends on whom they have traveling with them," Cochrane said. "Many times amateur ball clubs have former All-Americans on their rosters."

Once again Cochrane is counting heavily on his big defense. "With Steve Shuckra back in action at attack, we'll get the goals, and if our defense can play like it did against Denison last Saturday, then we'll confine their attack," he said.

A crowd of approximately 400 watched last week's lacrosse game.

Lacrosse, the school's newest sport, is a hard hitting game, and one of the fastest growing collegiate sports in the nation.

At the present time, lacrosse is very big at Eastern universities and colleges, and day by day is spreading in popularity westward.

When BG's lacrosse club turned into a varsity sport, it joined the Midwest Lacrosse Association, which is also growing stronger every year.

Lacrosse ("the stick") was originally played by the Indians of southeastern Canada, and it still contains much of its original rough and demanding play.

A team consists of 10 men, including three attack men, three midfielders, three defensemen and a goalie.

The game itself consists of four 15-minute quarters. The style of play is similar to another Canadian sport, ice hockey.

Scoring is based on one point per goal, and penalties are given out when the play gets unnecessarily rough. These penalties may be loss of ball or expulsion of the guilty player for times ranging from 30 seconds to a minute.

As in hockey, body checking plays a vital role. Checking is legal on any man within 15 feet of a loose ball, as long as approach is from the front and the contact above the knees.

Checking from behind, tripping, and unnecessary roughness are grounds for expulsion.

Many sportsmen across the nation have called lacrosse a much rougher sport than sports such as hockey or football.

Fast moving, rough, and exciting---that is Bowling Green's newest varsity sport, lacrosse.

Buhl To Phillies

CHICAGO (AP)-- The Philadelphia Phillies, regarded as one of the strong pennant contenders in the National League, have strengthened themselves where they needed the most help--in the pitching department. In a five-player trade with the Chicago Cubs, the Phils obtained two veteran starting pitchers, right-handers, Larry Jackson and Bob Buhl.

To get the 35-year old Jackson and the 37-year old Buhl, the Phils gave Chicago three young ballplayers 23-year old Adolfo Phillips, 28-year old John Herrnstein and 22-year old Ferguson Jenkins. Herrnstein can play first base and the outfield. Phillips is an outfielder, and Jenkins is a right-handed pitcher.

Jackson won 24 games for the Cubs in 1964, but slipped to a 14 and 21 record last season. Buhl won 13 games for Chicago last year.
